

Writing isn't learned in school. Rather, it's an art that is acquired by constant reading of the good scripts that have gone before us—and imitating them.

Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have copied the style of seven different classicists before combining parts of each, he polished up one of his own.

As a young reporter it was my good fortune to interview the late Booth Tarkington, who gave me a line that he used 20 years later in an article about American literature. What Tarkington told me was "The problem of writing is to get the ink out of it."

We call certain books great literature because they are tightly written—plain words simply arranged—with the ink squeezed out. The Bible is one of them. Another is Benjamin Franklin's "Autobiography."

I am reminded of this by something William Feather has to say about the word "very"—a word that is almost never passed by a critical newspaper city desk. Mr. Feather reports in Imperial Type Metal magazine as follows:

"We mentioned in these pages a few months ago that 'very' has become a meaningless word when used in such phrases as 'a very pretty girl' or 'a very lovely dress.' At the time of writing we were unaware that a studied campaign against 'very' began at least 50 years ago, with dismal results.

"R. V. Ellwood, a former Missouri newspaperman, writes us that he blue-penciled the word at least a million times in editing copy over a period of 45 years.

"He says: 'An eloquent statement concerning its use out here in the Missouri River valley is credited to Dan Anthony, editor of the Leavenworth (Kan.) Times, 50 or 60 years ago. I have repeated his remark to reporters times innumerable.

"When you feel you have to use 'very' in a story," Anthony was credited with barking to his new reporters, "use instead the word 'damn!'"

"What makes 'very' so difficult to exterminate is its usefulness to little children who are beginning to talk. With vocabularies of just a few dozen words 'very' is indispensable. It does the work of hundreds of adjectives when hooked on to such words as big, little, tall, mean, bad, or good. As we grow up, we should discard it. If we can't think of a stronger word than 'important' to describe a distinguished person, we should be satisfied to call him important instead of 'very important.'"

Which reminds me of something Mr. Feather overlooked—

All over the world during the late war GIs were constantly being visited by guests who were invariably referred to as "VIPs."

Very Important Persons," that is.

Well, if you know your GIs, it's just possible . . .

PSC Recesses 'Phone Rate Hearing

Little Rock, Oct. 26 —(P)—The public service commission has recessed its hearing on Southwest Bell Telephone company's application for an Arkansas rate increase.

Cross-examination of company witnesses, who testified in support of the petition for an annual $4,620,000 rate boost, will resume Nov. 2.

The postponement yesterday was requested by Thomas B. Fitzhugh, special PSC counsel, who said additional time would be required to prepare for cross-examination of 10 company witnesses still to return to the stand.

An estimated "three or four" days will be required for completion of cross-examination after the hearing is re-convened.

Direct testimony by witnesses for opponents of the rate increase will begin Nov. 21.

The commission yesterday ordered opposing attorneys to submit briefs relating to a motion that Southwest Bell be ordered to refund part of the rate increases—already ineffect on a temporary basis pending outcome of the PSC hearing.

The increase was made effective Sept. 22 with posting of a bond by the company to guarantee that refunds if SC decides eventually that part or all of the boost is unjustified.

T. J. Gentry, Little Rock city attorney and spokesman for a group of municipalities opposing the increase, contended that, since subscribers are billed a month in advance, Southwest Bell should be forced to refund that amount of the payment for the period between Sept. 21 and Oct. 1.

Truman May Call Special Session Nov. 27

Washington, Oct. 26 —(P)—President Truman said today he is considering calling congress into special session in advance of Nov. 27.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that if he decides on a special call to congress he will issue it when his decision is reached, regardless of whether it is before the election or after it.

When congress quit last September, it took a recess until Nov. 27. Word that Mr. Truman might call it back sooner had circulated in Washington even before the President's news conference. Some Republicans took the view that any call issued before the election on Nov. 7 could only be regarded as political move.

An Associated Press reporter got the report of a possible call from two different sources in a position to know about White House moves.

These sources said a tightening and extension of rent controls was the main item of an emergency program of legislation which Mr. Truman was working on.

At his news conference, Mr. Truman mentioned rent controls, excess profits taxes and statehood for Hawaii and Alaska as important legislation for congress.

If congress does not come back to work until Nov. 27, he commented, it would have only two, or two and one-half, weeks of working time. The present congress goes out of office with the new year and the new congress — to be elected Nov. 7 — will take over.

Mr. Truman said he had discussed with one or two of the congressional leaders, particularly with Vice President Barkley, the question of calling a special session to convene a week or 10 days before Nov. 27.

He said that there would be further discussion with others before a decision was made.

A reporter wanted to know whether the call would be issued before or after the election.

The President said he would issue the call when and if he makes the decision.

Another reporter wanted to know the extent to which rent controls would be advocated.

The President said that had not been determined, but added that there were other vitally important measures needing quick action. It was then he named excess profits taxes and the statehood bills for Alaska and Hawaii.

Mr. Truman did not mention military manpower but that was reported to be a legislative subject also under consideration in connection with the possible call for an earlier session.

Observers here recalled the dramatic surprise by Mr. Truman during the 1948 campaign. In his speech accepting the Democratic presidential election, he announced he would recall the Republican-controlled 80th congress into special session.

The present congress quit Sept. 23 under an agreement to return here Nov. 27, nearly three weeks after election, for an expected brief "lame duck" session — so called because some members will have been defeated at the polls.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.), one of the few GOP spokesmen available here, told a reporter he had not heard of the plan. He added: "It would be an obvious political move."

NPA Slaps Ban on Amusement Construction

Washington, Oct. 26 —(P)—The national production authority today banned the building of any new structures for "amusement, recreational or entertainment purposes."

The order, effective at midnight tonight, was issued to conserve materials for armaments.

Covered by the ban are theaters of all kinds, amusement parks, race tracks, golf courses, night clubs, skating rinks and summer camps. In all, there are 44 forbidden types of structures.

The order applies to federal, state and city recreational projects as well as private buildings.

The NPA Administrator, William H. Harrison, said in a statement that the ban would not further the defense effort, either directly or indirectly, and does not increase the nation's productive capacity.

Persons who start other buildings which do not further the defense drive — even though not on the prohibited list — run the risk of being barred from completion of the building, Harrison said.

Such construction begun after midnight may be halted "even though its commencement at the present time is not forbidden by this order," the production chief specified.

The NPA simultaneously issued two more orders setting the defense yoke more firmly on the economy.

1. The steel industry was directed to furnish steel for the production of at least 10,000 freight cars a month. This will take upwards of 300,000 tons monthly from the civilian supply.

The car-building program is of six-months' duration, but the mandatory allocation order covers only the first quarter of 1951. This will permit car builders to place orders at once, with steel deliveries beginning in January. Freight cars could begin rolling out of the shops in February or March.

2. Other allocation programs of the same type were made possible by an NPA amendment to its steel allocation order. This will permit steel allocations for steel for the freight car plan, for steel for the petroleum and mining industries, farm machinery makers, and other defense-supporting industries.

The ban on construction does not affect building already underway. It permits repair and maintenance.

made in connection with the case, said his only official consultant was an alleged baby adoption agency, which was the subject of a charge against the Missouri House of Representatives Children's Home Society.

Miss Georgia Tamm, the state's attorney general, was also charged with $500, and investigation fees assigned to her.

added: "I am, of course, not a part of the case. We took depositions on the case, and the case was filed for several months ago."

He filed his first deposition in the case, and said every deposition was taken on how the state house children to be placed in the state house.

deposition was taken with a case against Mrs. Paul Mc-Cabe, who was charged with a home without state license.

for the children sent to the state house were often placed out at the McCabe establishment until they were adopted.

Dr. J. M. Robinson, president of the Arkansas Negro Democratic association, said so in a letter to association county leaders.

He also urged support of all Democratic nominees, citing the "obligations assumed by us when we voted in the Democratic primaries."

posed by Dr. Robinson previously had attracted little noticeable opposition. That's the amendment to in-

Errol Flynn Ordered to Bed

Nice, France, Oct. 26 — (P) — U. S. navy doctor today ordered Errol Flynn to bed for five days to give his bruised back a chance to heal.

The 32-year-old actor slipped and fell on a rain-swept dock Tuesday night while boarding a motorboat with his bride, the former Patrice Wynne, of the movies. They were bound for Flynn's yacht, the Zaca, anchored off Villefranche.

North Little Rock, Oct. 26 —
John W. Eden, 70-year-old grocer, died last night after having been beaten by robbers four days earlier.

Mrs. Victor Harvey, his daughter, said her father was attacked in his store last Saturday night.
Approximately $135 was taken,
she said.

Mrs. Harvey said her father was on a couch in the small grocery when she entered to visit him. He was suffering from bruises on the head which physicians later told her had been inflicted by a black jack or pistol butt, Mrs. Harvey said.

Pulaski county homicide squad officers made no statement about the case, but Dr. Howard A.
Dishongh, coroner, confirmed that Eden had been beaten.

of present buildings, and alterations if they do not basically change the structure. Small construction jobs of $5,000 or less in any year are not prohibited.

The building of new homes has already been hit hard by curbs on real estate loans, and NPA officials have taken the position that it would be only fair to save additional critical materials by cutting down on recreational construction.

Representatives of the construction industry urged that the industry be allowed to save the materials voluntarily, but they were overruled.

The freight car order is the NPA first application of its "allocation" power to the movement of steel.
The defense transport administration
(DTA) asked for the order. It set a goal of 10,000 new cars a month starting in January, and resulting to many existing cars.

The allocation was reported to be for only three months at first, starting January, but could be continued beyond that.

Meantime Robert C. Goodwin, executive director of the office of defense manpower (ODM), told reporters yesterday that the labor supply is tightening and the government soon may have to negotiate with labor and management with the aim of transferring some workers from place to place, to fill critical needs.

Thousands Pay Tribute to Al Jolson

Hollywood, Oct. 26 — (AP) — The people of moviedom from biggest producer to lowliest script boy — pay final tribute today to an idol of an era, the one and only Al Jolson.

"That's the billing the old jazz singer doubtless would want, and thousands are expected to walk past his casket in Temple Israel for a last look at the man who launched so many of the songs America has loved in the past 40 years.

Fans and casual friends will have two hours — from 9 to 11 a. m. — to view the body of "Mr. Show Business," lying with the tallith shawl draped over his shoulders in memory of his cantor father.

At 11 a. m. the temple doors will be closed and only relatives and close friends of Jolson will be permitted to attend the services, scheduled to start at noon. Rabbi Max Nussbaum, assisted by Cantor Saul Silverman, will officiate. Jolson's old friend, Comedian-Film Producer George Jessel, will give the eulogy.

At the request of the widow — Jolson's fourth wife, Erle Galbraith — flowers will be absent. She urged that the money be sent instead to the American Heart association. It was a heart attack last Monday night in San Francisco that closed the 64-year-old showman's career. After several changes in plans, it was decided that there will be no long funeral procession. The body will be interred temporarily at Both Olam cemetery in Hollywood, pending construction of a family vault at Hillside Memorial park near Inglewood.

The 10 active pallbearers include the two men who were with Jolson when he died, Arranger Harry Akst and Accompanist Martin Fried. Others on the augmented list are Harry Brand and Harry Cohn, film executives; Louis Epstein, the singer's manager for 35 years; Nathan Ikramer, Arthur Stebbins, John Steinberg and Maurice Aroff, all of Hollywood; and Al Goetz of New York.

The honorary pallbearers' list, numbering 57, read like a who's who of show business. It included

Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen, Sher- and the Warner Brothers, it Eugene Biscailuz, Eddie Cantor and Jack. It was Harry Cohn, president of the Columbia studio, who helped Jolson to a new pinnacle of success with "The Jolson Story."

Election Eve Predictions Making Rounds

By The Associated Press

Political weathermen holding their fingers in the wind reported they found it blowing in opposite directions today and gave out predictions in accord with their observations.

With the elections less than two weeks away, there was a swelling of the flood of customary conflicting forecasts from Republicans and Democrats of what will happen.

Senator Brewster of Maine, who heads the GOP senatorial campaign committee, told newsmen the Republicans have "excellent prospects" of picking up the seven net seats they need to win control of the senate. Chairman William Boyle, Jr., of the Democratic na-

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up at night or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 million of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Restrictions May Not Be Felt Soon

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 26 — (AP) — Except for these things — income tax, buying a home, buying goods on installments — you probably haven't felt the touch of the defense program.

That is, if you're not a business-man. The government has cracked down on some business friends. But, all in all, what the government has done so far in its defense work is fairly mild compared with what may lie ahead.

Since this defense program may last a long time, the government has three main problems on its hands:

1. It has to see that certain materials needed for armaments go into armaments, even though civilians do with less of their usual goods.
2. With everyone working, money plentiful and some goods, which the money would buy, getting scarcer, the government has to move again inflation.
3. At the same time, because a big armament program is expensive, the government has to find the money to pay at least some of the cost.

What follows are the steps taken by the government so far to handle all three of these problems:

1. Income and corporation taxes were raised, starting Oct. 1. This will help pay defense costs and, taking some of the spending money out of people's hands, hold down inflation a bit.
2. Buying one or two-family homes has been made tougher because now you have to put down a larger first payment and pay up faster. This is intended to curb some of the spending urge, too, while channeling needed building materials into defense.
3. Buying things like cars and household appliances has been made a little tougher; larger down payment, pay-ups faster. Here, again, the purpose was to cut down on spending.

All the rest of the points listed here were steps taken to be sure certain materials were available for military needs.

4. Rubber — manufacturers will have to use less pure rubber, more synthetic. This will save the natural rubber supply.
5. Manufacturers must reduce their on-hand supply — called inventory — of 32 materials essential for defense.
6. Manufacturers have been told to give right of way — priority — to orders from the defense department or the atomic energy commission which makes bombs.
7. Certain kinds of steel have been set aside for armaments. Molasses can't be shipped out of the country. It's used in making synthetic rubber and the government wants more of that made.
8. Limits have been placed on the amount of cotton that can be shipped out of the country.
9. The government has tightened up on the amount of certain metals that can be shipped out, like aluminum ore, copper, brass, bronze, lead, zinc.
11. Specified amounts of steel will have to be set aside by manufacturers for the making of freight cars, which are needed.
12. The government will ban certain kinds of building which it considers unnecessary at a time like this. Race tracks, for instance. Meanwhile, other controls can be expected in the business field since representative of various industries are being called in here every day to talk over problems which affect their business and the defense program.

If, as reported, President Truman calls congress back into session right after the election, other steps may be taken. Renewal of rent controls, for instance.

Other problems lie ahead:

Manpower, for instance. The government right now has no power to compel anyone to work anywhere. But worker-shortages are beginning to show up in some defense areas.

As more people are needed in defense jobs the government probably will try to work out agreements between unions and employers to get workers to shift over to jobs where they're needed.

As expense of the defense program increases, taxes may be boosted even still further than they were this month. There's much talk of that.

And if living costs keep going up — because of higher prices — we'll have price and wage controls.

PUBLISHER HONORED

Dierks, Oct. 26 — (AP) — The Dierks Lions club has unanimously selected Keith Tudor, Dierks' publisher, as the "outstanding citizen of Dierks for 1950."

Tudor, "a little later" of the Dierks Lions club, is state American Legion vice-commander, president of the Dierks Chamber of Commerce and member of the board of stewards of the Methodist church.

He recently purchased the Southern Standard, Arkadelphia weekly newspaper, and with Mrs. Tudor and their young son, is moving there this week.

"Surgeon" Barbers

Red and white stripes on a barber pole go back to the 16th century, when barbers were surgeons as well as barbers. The red stripes represented blood and the white bandages.

Ancient kings of Denmark frequently established residences at Viborg, located on the mainland the chief issue in the election is "liberty versus slavery" — a reference to Senator Taft (R-Ohio). Taft co-sponsored the Taft-Hartley labor act.

Matter of Taking Coffee in Pills

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Report

Chicago — How will you have your coffee this morning, dear? One pill or two?

"Two, please," says the husband. His wife drops two coffee pills into his cup, then adds hot water.

The pill is an extract of coffee, inside a capsule to keep it fresh. The tasteless, quick-dissolving capsule is an overcoat to guard the coffee against oxygen.

As yet the coffee-in-a-pill-overcoat is just an idea, one of dozens being developed at the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology. It comes from Erik Nielson, a coffee loving researcher in the chemistry and chemical engineering department.

Nielson blends his own coffee at home, and makes coffee at the office for fellow workers in the department headed by Clark E. Thorp. This department is an idea factory.

The coffee pills are one of the ideas that passed careful screening and now are undergoing development.

Freshly roasted coffee contains certain fragrant oils which are easily destroyed by oxygen. The extract would be taken out at low temperature, and covered with a blanket of nitrogen or other inert gas to prevent contact with oxygen. Thorp said: "There are some problems to be solved, but none of these seems insuperable."

The pills could be packaged in jars or wax paper envelopes for easy distribution.

Other kinds of coffee and on the list, include blends made from boric, plastic materials, infrared detectors, better detectors, liquid ozone and dust analyzers to avoid underground explosions. Others went on the secret list because of possible military usefulness.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pagler

New York, Oct. 26. — Advertising by electricity along the public facilities of the air has entered a new phase. Much of it is now very offensive, if not frankly, political.

Eleanor Roosevelt is a political character. She is not an "entertainer". She has no reputation as an actress, she can't juggle, dance, sing or do a hand-stand. Her humor, as when she recalls the time when her husband wanted his shoes soled and the butler sold them is a neuro-gastric hazard.

So I conclude that the companies which put up the money to spread her politics as sponsors of her program, desire to identify their products in the public mind with her politics and personality. I suppose they think they will appeal to the patronage of those who favor this woman and her politics, and her associations and activities in connection with those politics.

I am opposed to her. I think she has set an example as a famous mother which is deplorable rather than admirable. I think her exploitation of the office of President of the United States for her financial profit has lowered the ethics of our people. I think her intercessions in favor of her friends Joe Lash and Earl Miller, the latter a big hunk of man who had been Roosevelt's body-guard when he was governor, to get them undeserved preference over other men in the armed services were deplorable and inexcusable of themselves without any consideration of her reasons.

I refer to Cardinal Spellman's letter to this woman in which he said: "Whatever you may say in the future, your record of anti-Catholics stands for all to see — a record which you, yourself, wrote on the pages of history which cannot be recalled."

There is abundant evidence to support the cardinal's charge that this woman was an enemy of Catholics and their church. None of it has been refuted, expunged or even minimized since he wrote that letter in the summer of 1949. She had gratuitously uttered an attack on the martyr Cardinal Mindszenty which apparently was based on the unsupported opinion of a notorious professional anti-Catholic and pro-Communist pamphleteer. When she was challenged to identify her authority for false and brutal statements about the cardinal she failed to do so.

The companies which are spending their money to hire this woman must be aware of her politics and prejudices, her reputation and performances. They cannot hope to endear their products to the citizens who are opposed to her, by no means all of whom are Catholics. It seems to me that they have knowingly calculated the percent ages and determined to go ahead with their sponsorship and financial support of Eleanor Roosevelt, foregoing the patronage of all the opposition. That is their right and they surely understand that their subsidy to her is an endorsement of all the elements which make up their protegee. They want me to think of their orange juice or other product as being associated with Eleanor Roosevelt. They knowingly risk the consequences of unfavorable reaction among those who are as deeply disgusted as the others are highly exalted.

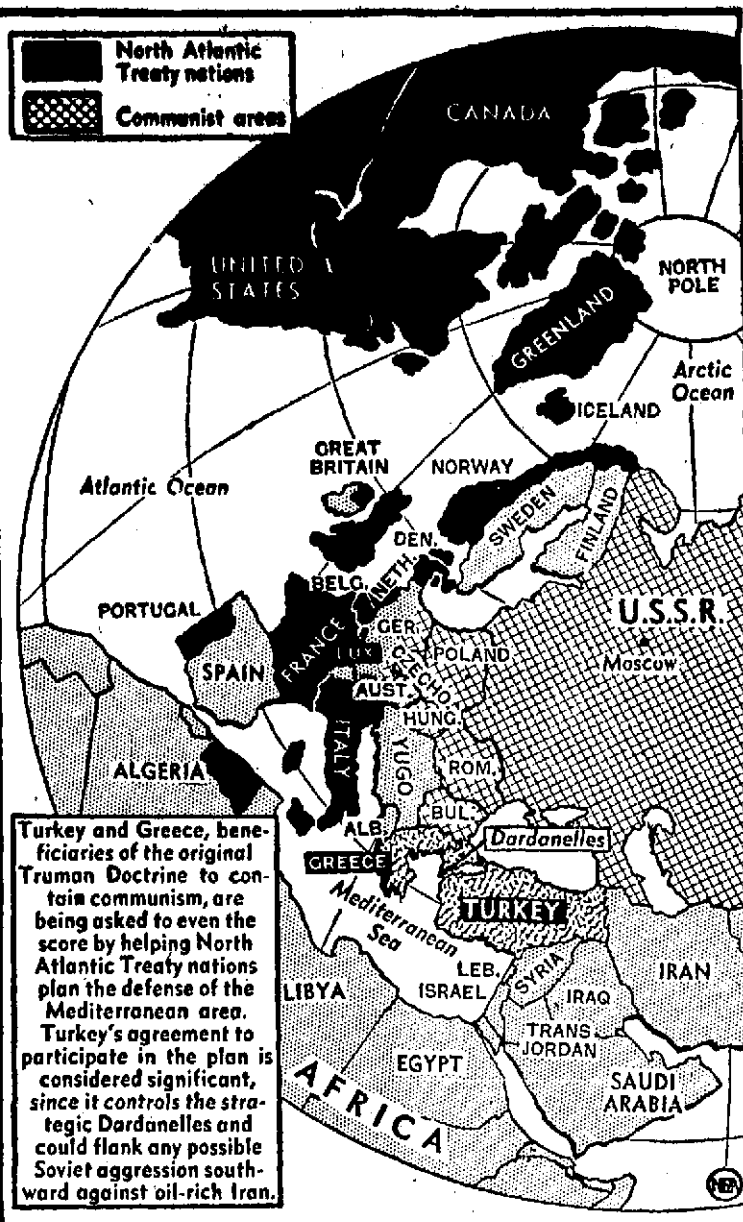

The airways, however, belong to me and to others who share my favorable views and abhorrences. While I am unable at first consideration to formulate my objections in legal terms, I do suggest that some right of ours is violated by this exploit. I recall that Hitler was said to have taken Austria by radio. I know that in our country the federal communications commission has been viciously partial to the administration and its evil personalities for many years. It has conspired with private gestapos to blackmail, silence and discredit spokesmen of the opposition. I maintain that much of the mis-called news of the most strident harrangues is motivated propaganda put in the mouths of mercenary oracles by gestapos which maintain detectives of low character and reputation.

The possibilities for blackmail inherent in these secretive agencies, whose affairs never are questioned by the Buchanan committee of congress, are obvious to all persons with any experience in such matters. The one big attempt by house committee to unmask this political terror over the air disclosed alarming proof. But the investigation, itself, was abruptly shut off by the blackmail process when the departments of state and justice trapped a man into a compromising position. The administration then put it up to his man's brother to drop the hot rail or send the man to prison.

The exposed stopped. My own reaction to the attempts of these advertisers to appeal for my trade is absolutely negative. They arouse my resentment not my sympathy, as I assume the advertisers suspected that it would.

This may mean that we are to have anti-Catholic automobiles, pro-Communist soap and other product of general consumption on one side and a rival array of merchandise on the other. If so that will be the doing of those who started it all and flung the challenge.

Mexico claims certain islands off California because the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo of 1848, ceding territory to the U. S., failed to mention them.

Ford Planning No Increase in Prices

Detroit, Oct. 25. —(AP)—Moving contrary to current trends, Ford Motor Co. is making no increase in the price of its new 1951 model Mercury cars.

Henry Ford II, president, announced this last night. Although he did not specifically say so, he intimated an effort would be made also to avoid immediate increases in the forthcoming new Ford models.

The move, Ford said, was designed as "our part in holding the line against inflation." It was decided upon, he added, despite the fact that wages, salaries and materials costs have added more than $78,000,000 to the Ford Motor company's annual outlay since the start of the Korean war.

Marshall Favors Universal Training

Washington, Oct. 25. —(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall spoke out yesterday in favor of universal military training and an expanded national guard program.

He also said in a speech to the National Guard association of America that if things keep working out as they are, there will be no war.

Marshall did not explain this brief statement on war. But he declared that a strong, well trained citizens' army readily available to meet any crisis would help change the world picture.

Former Greene County Judge Succumbs

Paragould, Oct. 25. —(AP)—Former Greene County Judge Albert D. Jackson died at his home here today. He was 85.

Jackson, who had been a justice of the peace for the past 24 years, was a former county road overseer. He was a native of Boyds-ville, Ark., and had been a resident of Paragould for 55 years.

He is survived by five sons. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Government Controls Hit Retail Sales

New York, Oct. 26. —(AP)—The government credit tightening blow against inflation has severely jolted retail sales around the country.

A nationwide spot-check by the Associated Press disclosed today a highly variegated impact on sales resulting from stiffer installment buying terms imposed last week by the federal reserve board.

One main fact stands out — people have cut back their heavy buying because they haven't got the ready cash for higher down payments or because their incomes are too low to meet the new stepped-up monthly payment terms.

That is exactly what the federal reserve aimed at with its new regulations Oct. 18, which tightened up the previous controls of Sept. 18 requiring heavier down payments and a shorter time to pay.

After less than two weeks of operating under the new controls, however, the picture is far from uniform. Most heavily involved in sales declines are automobiles, home appliances, television sets and furniture.

And the situation is complicated by such things as war scare buying, automobile model changeovers, color television uncertainties, war shortages, and just plain customer confusion.

For instance, television set sales in New York are reported to be on the skids with some merchants cutting prices to encourage customers, while on the west coast in San Francisco buyers are rushing to beat the Nov. 1 federal 10 per cent excise tax.

Department store sales reported by the federal reserve board show some key cities little affected by credit controls on total sales, but home appliances and furniture sales dropped by varying amounts.

Hardest hit, all agree, are stores specializing in credit sales on low or no down payments and a long time to repay. They had to raise their requirements, and their particular type of customer was simply priced out of the market.

At the time the first credit regulations were put into effect Sept. 18, one group of merchants said government terms were less strict than their own. They were threatened with a loss of business to stores offering easier terms. They didn't like it. Now that terms are higher, they are satisfied, but the easy payment stores are complaining.

The biggest outcry has come from automobile dealers of all types. Their opposition was termed "immediate and violent" by the trade paper automobile news. Estimates of sales losses vary in the extreme.

$2 Million Is Made Available to Yugoslavia

Washington, Oct. 25. —(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today $2,000,000 is being made available to Yugoslavia to help buy food needed immediately because of crop failure.

Acheson told a news conference the government's export-import bank has given the Yugoslavs permission to divert to food buying $2,000,000 of a $15,000,000 loan granted earlier for the purchase of machinery and industrial materials.

He said Marshal Tito's government already has started to use the money to buy surplus food from the agriculture department. Some food is now being loaded aboard several ships, he added.

The loan and the food purchase authorization are among several steps taken by the United States to bolster the Yugoslav government since its break with Russia.

Acheson said he intends to meet soon with a government committee to determine what further moves can be made to aid Yugoslavia.

AMERICA'S FINEST MARGARINE

Pact Nations May See Plans Form Fast

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The 12 North Atlantic nations, banded together for defense against Communist armed might, may be able to create a binger force and do it faster than their military planners have hoped.

This prospect, cheering to a nervous western world, developed today out of the opening session yesterday of the military committee of the North Atlantic treaty organization.

It resulted, essentially, from three things:

1. The urgent plea by American Gen. Omar Bradley to the committee for action now to bring into being an integrated land, sea and air force to resist any new military thrusts by Russia or her Communist satellites.

2. A move in the military committee, sparked by one of the smaller nations, to contribute to the combined defensive organization a larger force than had been blue-printed.

3. The overt act of communism—bringing war to Korea—which has stepped up the tempo of rearmament by most of the Atlantic nations, whether or not they are fighting in the Far Eastern conflict.

A spokesman for the American delegation to the conference didn't identify the small country that set off the move to speed up formation of the combined forces, but he said the idea immediately gained approval from the other chiefs of staff who represent the treaty nations.

But the agreement of the military chiefs of staff on the idea of providing forces faster than making them bigger was only a first step.

The proposal and a multitude of other details arising in yesterday's discussion compelled the military committee to recess until tomorrow, instead of finishing business in one day, while the chiefs consulted their superiors in Washington and at their home capitals.

Actually, whatever the military

DOROTHY DIX Marriage Bureau

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man just past 50. I have never married because I could not support a wife in a way I considered a decent standard of living when I was young and since I have been able to marry I have not seen a woman whom I wanted to marry and whom I thought would fit into my scheme of life. But surely somewhere in the world there is such a one. This has made me wonder why we might not have a national bureau handled on a high ethical plane, with some such confidential research as is done by Dun & Bradstreet in the business world, whose mission it would be to bring the right people together. Those interested could fill out a questionnaire that would be registered in a central bureau, stating their own qualifications and what they desired socially, educationally, biologically, temperamentally in a husband or wife. This would be a scientific method of reaching fine people marooned in cities and villages and in the country. What do you think of the idea?

A. E.

Answer: It is a grand idea and perhaps after the Government gets through regimenting us about everything else on earth it will take up our love affairs and establish a WTM (want to marry) Bureau and provide us all with scientifically selected husbands and wives.

It Wouldn't Work
But I doubt that the plan would work for two reasons. One is that people are personicky about marrying and want to pick out their husbands and wives themselves; and they never by any chance fancy the woman or man everybody thinks is just the one they should have married.

And a second reason why a bureau for selecting husbands and committees does constitutes only recommendations on which the high level committee of defense ministers will act at a meeting on Saturday and which that committee, in turn, may send on to the council of foreign ministers of the treaty powers.

meals do not coincide with ours, and doing his washing. We would also have to take a much larger apartment in an unheated house. I have told my husband that I will be willing to help his brother financially to live at the Y, which would be less expensive than having him with us. I have worked hard and do work hard to help my husband, but this putting more work on me is more than I can stand. What Shall I do? WIFE

Answer: Stick to your determination not to let your brother-in-law come live with you, for if you once let him get his foot in the door you will never get it out, and you will spend the balance of your life toiling to support a lazy male parasite. And there is no virtue in that. You can tell your husband that he is doing his brother a deadly harm instead of a kindness in encouraging him in his loafing. Tell him that now is the crisis of his brother's life and that unless he forces him to stand alone he will never do it.

No man has a right to sacrifice his wife to his family. She should come first with him, and if he doesn't care enough for her to feel that way about her, she has to protect herself. So whatever you do, don't let brother-in-law settle down on you. Give him just as little money as he can possibly live on. That will make a man of him if anything can.

Dear Miss Dix: What would you do if you were married to a man who rarely laughs?

A. L. B.

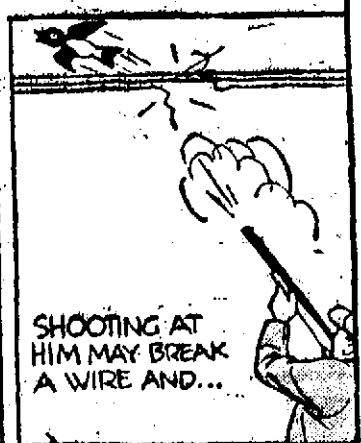

Answer: I should regret his lack of a sense of humor, because life is so much easier to bear if you get a slant on the funny side of things. But if all that was the matter with him was that he didn't guffaw over everything, I shouldn't let that worry me. Believe me, my dear, there are worse things than being married to a man who doesn't laugh. You might be married to one who laughs too much or laughs at the wrong things. Or you might be married to a village cut-up, and then you would have something really to cry about. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
